Civil Action No. 4:22-cv-2420

THIRD AMENDED COMPLAINT

NOW INTO COURT through undersigned counsel comes LACI N. BLANCHARD, Individually, and as next friend of W.B., the surviving minor child of RONNIE P. BLANCHARD, JR. (“Plaintiff”), complaining of SANARE ENERGY PARTNERS LLC; ALL COAST, LLC; SBS ENERGY SERVICES, LLC; WARRIOR ENERGY SERVICES CORPORATION; SUPERIOR ENERGY SERVICES-NORTH AMERICA SERVICES, INC.; HARDY OILFIELD SERVICES, LLC; and NPC LAND & MARINE LLC and for cause of action would respectfully show the Court the following:

I.

NATURE OF ACTION

1. This case arises out of negligent conduct that caused serious injuries, and eventually death, to Mr. Ronnie P. Blanchard, Jr. (“Mr. Blanchard”) while he was working offshore. These claims are brought via this survival action for Laci N. Blanchard’s injuries, suffering, and death, and via this wrongful death action for W.B.’s own damages from Mr. Blanchard’s death.

II.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

2. Plaintiff brings these claims under the Jones Act and General Maritime law. In the alternative, if the Court determines the Jones Act and General Maritime law do not apply, Plaintiff brings these claims under OCSLA and Louisiana law.

3. Venue is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391, because one or more Defendants in this case resides in this state and within this District.

4. Venue in this Court is proper if OCSLA and Louisiana law controls this case. However, if the Jones Act and General Maritime apply to this case, venue would be proper in state court where this case was removed from. After adequate discovery, Plaintiff respectfully reserves the right to challenge federal jurisdiction.

5. Plaintiff has now discovered that there is jurisdiction, both generally and specifically, over Defendant SBS ENERGY SERVICES, LLC for the following non-exclusive reasons:

- a. SBS entered into a Master Services Agreement (“MSA”) with Sanare related to the project which was ongoing at the time of the incident;
- b. SBS negotiated the MSA with Sanare in Texas;
- c. SBS submitted payments for the job in question to Sanare in Texas;
- d. SBS participated in meetings regarding the job in question in Texas prior to work;
- e. SBS knowingly and intentionally conducted business in or directed business to occur in Texas (including business relating to this incident and business generally);

- f. SBS regularly, systematically, and continuously conducted substantial business in the State of Texas;
- g. SBS is registered in Texas to do oil and gas well services.
- h. The MSA between Sanare and SBS for the job at issue further shows that SBS has purposefully availed itself and agreed to jurisdiction in Texas because in that MSA SBS agrees that the state and federal courts in Harris County, Texas as the sole venue for any disputes arising under the MSA;
- i. Plaintiff's claims against SBS arise out of and under the work that was being performed under the MSA; and
- j. Plaintiff also incorporates fully by reference any additional venue and jurisdictional facts set forth in Sanare's Third Party Complaint (Doc. 52) filed against SBS Energy Services, LLC.

IV.

FACTS

14. This lawsuit is necessary as a result of personal injuries and death suffered by Mr. Blanchard on or about March 25, 2022. On or about this time, Plaintiff was working for Defendant

SBS as a Jones Act seaman, and assigned to the LB SWORDFISH, a vessel owned and operated by Defendant ALL COAST.

15. Mr. Blanchard had just recently started a new job and spent the vast majority of his time working offshore assigned to the LB SWORDFISH. Mr. Blanchard would sleep on the LB SWORDFISH and perform a substantial amount of his work from the LB SWORDFISH.

16. At the time of the incident, Mr. Blanchard was working on equipment connected to an offshore worksite owned and/or operated by Defendant SANARE. Specifically, Plaintiff was performing work associated with a blowout preventer and pipe jack assembly weighing approximately 120,000 pounds.

17. While performing work as a Jones Act seaman offshore, Mr. Blanchard was working with equipment and caisson that suddenly became detached. As the equipment toppled over and fell into the ocean, Mr. Blanchard went with it. On information and belief, the equipment that became detached had been torqued down by WARRIOR/SUPERIOR. WARRIOR is an energy services company and subsidiary of SUPERIOR that had performed a substantial amount of work on the equipment. WARRIOR was acquired by Defendant SUPERIOR in 2006 but maintained its Fastorq division through 2018 until it was fully absorbed into WARRIOR in 2018. Upon information and belief, WARRIOR was still operating its Fastorq division under the Fastorq trade name. Because the equipment and caisson were not torqued down properly, Mr. Blanchard fell into the ocean, drowned and eventually died.

18. Defendant HARDY was responsible for rigging up the hardy spool system in connection with the work ongoing at the time Mr. Blanchard died.

19. Shortly before the incident, a portion of the equipment collapsed and toppled over into the ocean as it was being erected on a caisson in the Gulf of Mexico. Tragically, Mr. Blanchard was attached to the assembly at the time it collapsed and, as a result, was dragged and trapped below the surface of the water. He was caused to suffer tremendous fright and fear as he was dragged into the water and ultimately drowned. It was not until days later that search and rescue divers were able to locate and recover Mr. Blanchard's body from beneath the waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

CLAIMS

A. Negligence against Defendants SANARE, ALL COAST.

20. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges each allegation contained above.

21. Plaintiff's claims against Defendants SANARE, ALL COAST, and NPC arise under the General Maritime law.<sup>1</sup>

22. The proximate, contributing, and legal causes of Plaintiff's injuries and Mr. Blanchard's death include the negligence of Defendants SANARE, ALL COAST, and NPC. Plaintiff was not at fault.

23. Defendants SANARE, ALL COAST, and NPC were negligent for the following non-exclusive reasons:

- a. Unsafe work practices relating to requiring Plaintiff and other workers to work at dangerous heights on unstable equipment;
- b. Unsafe work practices relating to planning the job in question;

---

<sup>1</sup> If it is determined that the Jones Act and General Maritime law does not apply to this case, Plaintiff alternatively brings claims of negligence against these Defendants under Louisiana law. The allegations, however, are substantively similar.

- c. Failure to approve of an adequate JSA for the job by the owner/operator of the caisson;
- d. Failure to adequately erect and stabilize offshore equipment;
- e. Failure to have adequate safety precautions in place in the event of equipment failure and/or collapse;
- f. Failure to utilize appropriate crane equipment to safely perform the tasks at hand;
- g. Failure to adequately inspect equipment prior to requiring Plaintiff work at height while attached the such equipment;
- h. Failure to perform an adequate hazard assessment for the job in question;
- i. Failure to properly supervise the job in question;
- j. Failure to have adequate policies and procedures for the job in question;
- k. Failure to exercise stop work authority;
- l. Failure to honor stop work authority;
- m. Failure to identify safer means to inspect the equipment;
- n. Failure to warn and advise Plaintiff of the risks relating to the job in question;
- o. Failure to configure the equipment in a safe manner to allow Plaintiff to be able to work at heights safely;
- p. Failure to inspect the equipment that failed and fell into the ocean;
- q. Failure to provide adequate safety equipment;
- r. Failure to provide a safe working environment;
- s. Instructing SBS workers to perform work in an unsafe manner;

- t. Failure to warn Plaintiff of hidden dangers;
- u. Violation of applicable rules and regulations, including but not limited to United States Coast Guard Regulations; and
- v. Other acts deemed negligent.

24. Further, SANARE is liable for the negligence of ALL COAST and SBS because SANARE controlled the work of ALL COAST, SBS, WARRIOR/SUPERIOR, NPC, and HARDY. SANARE had a duty to supervise the work the work on the platform to ensure it was done in a safe manner and in compliance with regulatory and industry standards. SANARE failed to do so which allowed negligent conduct by the other Defendants to which SANARE did not correct.

25. Defendants owed a duty consistent with the foregoing and breached each of the foregoing duties. These breaches were the proximate, contributing, and legal cause of Plaintiff's injuries and Mr. Blanchard's death. As a result of Defendants' negligence Plaintiff suffered severe injuries and the death of Mr. Blanchard. Mrs. Blanchard was the wife of Mr. Blanchard, and W.B. is the minor child of Mr. Blanchard and are entitled to recover for Mr. Blanchard's damages via the survival action established LA. CIV. CODE art. 2315.1. Plaintiff is also entitled to recover for the death of Mr. Blanchard via the wrongful death action established in LA. CIV. CODE art. 2315.2.

B. Negligence and Substantial Certainty against Defendant SBS.

26. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges each allegation contained above.

27. Plaintiff's claims against Defendant SBS arise under the Jones Act and General

Maritime law.<sup>2</sup>

28. The proximate, contributing, and legal causes of Plaintiff's injuries and Mr. Blanchard's death include the negligence and reckless conduct of Defendant SBS that made Plaintiff's injuries and the underlying incident substantially certain to occur. Mr. Blanchard was not at fault.

29. Defendant SBS was negligent and for the following non-exclusive reasons:

- a. Violations of OSHA regulations, including but not limited to 29 C.F.R. 1926 and 29 C.F.R. 1910, among others;
- b. Failing to recognize the work being performed at heights on unsafe equipment in question as a hazard in both the planning and actual operations stages;
- c. Unsafe work practices relating to issuing permits for the job in question;
- d. Unsafe work practices relating to requiring Plaintiff and other workers to work at dangerous heights on unstable equipment;
- e. Unsafe work practices relating to planning the job in question;
- f. Failure to approve of an adequate JSA for the job in question as required under OCSLA and under Jones Act and General Maritime industry standards;
- g. Failure to have adequate safety precautions in place in the event of equipment failure and/or collapse

---

<sup>2</sup> If it is determined that the Jones Act and General Maritime law does not apply to this case, Plaintiff brings claims under Louisiana law. Specifically, Plaintiff invokes, in the alternative, the doctrine of substantial certainty under Louisiana law as an exception to the workers' compensation exclusive remedy doctrine to the extent it relates to any party in this case.

- h. Failure to ensure appropriate and available crane/lifting equipment was utilized in the underlying job;
- i. Failure to adequately inspect equipment prior to requiring Mr. Blanchard work at heights while attached the such equipment;
- j. Failure to perform an adequate hazard assessment for the job in question;
- k. Failure to properly supervise the job in question;
- l. Failure to have adequate policies and procedures for the job in question;
- m. Failure to adequately inspect the equipment in question that fell into the ocean;
- n. Failure to exercise stop work authority;
- o. Failure to honor stop work authority;
- p. Failure to identify safer means to inspect the equipment;
- q. Failure to warn and advise Mr. Blanchard of the risks relating to the job in question;
- r. Failure to configure the equipment in a safe manner to allow Mr. Blanchard to be able to work at heights safely;
- s. Failure to provide adequate safety equipment;
- t. Failure to provide a safe working environment;
- u. Instructing Mr. Blanchard and other SBS workers to perform work in an unsafe manner;
- v. Instructing and/or authorizing the Mr. Blanchard to perform work in an unsafe manner;
- w. Failure to warn Mr. Blanchard of hidden dangers;

- x. Violation of applicable rules and regulations, including but not limited to United States Coast Guard Regulations; and
- y. Other acts deemed negligent, reckless, and substantially certain to cause injury or death.

30. Additionally, and in the alternative, the incident sued hereupon was substantially certain to occur. The dangerous nature and manner of work being performed made it substantially certain that the equipment would collapse and/or fail while Mr. Blanchard was tied off to the equipment. Further, the Defendant SBS—as a contractor was hired to perform the work in question—knew of the substantial dangers with sending Mr. Blanchard to work at great heights while tied off to dangerous equipment that was not adequately secured or inspected, and knew that an incident of this sort was substantially certain to occur yet proceeded, nevertheless. Specifically, some of the non-exclusive reasons this incident was substantially certain to occur are:

- a. This type of incident should never occur with adequate job planning and pre-job assessments.
- b. SBS owed a non-delegable duty to Mr. Blanchard to keep him safe and provide him a safe work environment.
- c. By working on raised equipment at heights in the ocean without adequate inspections, planning, and safety measures, the type of incident that occurred is completely foreseeable and would occur only in a matter of time.
- d. The conditions Mr. Blanchard was working in created an environment where it was not an “if” the incident would occur but a “when” the incident would occur based on the extreme levels of risk.

- e. When working offshore at heights all efforts should be taken to minimize the amount of height workers are subject to. That was not adequately done in this case.
- f. Upon information and belief, SBS had previous issues with the same equipment and continued with the work consciously and without rectifying the previous issues relating to the support of the equipment in question that eventually fell into the ocean. Specifically, SBS knew that there was a near-certain likelihood of the equipment failing and falling and proceeded with the work with a total disregard to the safety of Mr. Blanchard.
- g. SBS knew of all of these risks, yet proceeded with the work, placing Mr. Blanchard in a position where it was only a matter of time before an incident like this occurred causing serious injury or death.

31. Defendant SBS owed a duty consistent with the foregoing and breached each of the foregoing duties. These breaches were the proximate, contributing, and legal cause of Mr. Blanchard's injuries and death. As a result of Defendant SBS' negligence and conduct that made this incident substantially certain to occur, Mr. Blanchard suffered severe physical injury, resulting in his death. Mrs. Blanchard was the wife of Mr. Blanchard and is entitled to recover for Mr. Blanchard's damages via the survival action established La. Civ. Code art. 2315.1. Plaintiff is also entitled to recover for the death of Mr. Blanchard via the wrongful death action established in La. Civ. Code art. 2315.2.

C. Negligence against Defendants WARRIOR/SUPERIOR.

- 32. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges each allegation contained above.
- 33. Plaintiff's claims against Defendants WARRIOR/SUPERIOR arise under the General Maritime law.<sup>3</sup>

34. The proximate, contributing, and legal causes of Plaintiff's injuries and Mr. Blanchard's death include the negligence of Defendants WARRIOR/SUPERIOR. Plaintiff was not at fault.

35. Defendants WARRIOR/SUPERIOR were negligent for the following non-exclusive reasons:

- a. Unsafe work practices relating to requiring Plaintiff and other workers to work at dangerous heights on unstable equipment;
- b. Unsafe work practices relating to planning the job in question;
- c. Failure to approve of an adequate JSA for the job by the owner/operator of the caisson;
- d. Failure to adequately erect and stabilize offshore equipment;
- e. Failure to adequately provide torque service related to the hydraulic workover unit;
- f. Failure to perform torque services that then contributed to the equipment collapsing;
- g. Failure to have adequate safety precautions in place in the event of equipment failure and/or collapse;
- h. Failure to utilize appropriate crane equipment to safely perform the tasks at hand;

---

<sup>3</sup> If it is determined that the Jones Act and General Maritime law does not apply to this case, Plaintiff alternatively brings claims of negligence against these Defendants under Louisiana law. The allegations, however, are substantively similar.

- i. Failure to adequately inspect equipment prior to requiring Plaintiff work at height while attached the such equipment;
- j. Failure to perform an adequate hazard assessment for the job in question;
- k. Failure to properly supervise the job in question;
- l. Failure to have adequate policies and procedures for the job in question;
- m. Failure to exercise stop work authority;
- n. Failure to honor stop work authority;
- o. Failure to identify safer means to inspect the equipment;
- p. Failure to warn and advise Plaintiff of the risks relating to the job in question;
- q. Failure to configure the equipment in a safe manner to allow Plaintiff to be able to work at heights safely;
- r. Failure to inspect the equipment that failed and fell into the ocean;
- s. Failure to provide adequate safety equipment;
- t. Failure to provide a safe working environment;
- u. Failure to warn Plaintiff of hidden dangers;
- v. Violation of applicable rules and regulations, including but not limited to United States Coast Guard Regulations; and
- w. Other acts deemed negligent.

36. Defendants owed a duty consistent with the foregoing and breached each of the foregoing duties. These breaches were the proximate, contributing, and legal cause of Plaintiff's injuries and Mr. Blanchard's death. As a result of Defendants' negligence Plaintiff suffered severe injuries and the death of Mr. Blanchard. Mrs. Blanchard was the wife of Mr. Blanchard, and W.B.

is the minor child of Mr. Blanchard and are entitled to recover for Mr. Blanchard's damages via the survival action established LA. CIV. CODE art. 2315.1. Plaintiff is also entitled to recover for the death of Mr. Blanchard via the wrongful death action established in LA. CIV. CODE art. 2315.2.

D. Joint Enterprise Against WARRIOR/SUPERIOR.

37. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges each allegation contained above.

38. The work performed by WARRIOR was done by an express agreement through its relationship with parent company, SUPERIOR.

39. At all relevant times, WARRIOR and SUPERIOR had a joint interest in common business and understood that profits derived from the work of WARRIOR would be shared by SUPERIOR. At the time of the underlying incident, WARRIOR and SUPERIOR had joint rights of control, and a community of pecuniary interest.

40. As wholly owned subsidiary of SUPERIOR with no separate and distinct management, WARRIOR and SUPERIOR operated as one and the same. Both had the same President Brian K. Moore, Vice President Catherine Keen, and Treasurer James W. Spexarth, and shared in the profits and losses.

E. Negligence against Defendant HARDY.

41. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges each allegation contained above.

42. Plaintiff's claims against Defendant HARDY arise under the General Maritime law.<sup>4</sup>

---

<sup>4</sup> If it is determined that the Jones Act and General Maritime law does not apply to this case, Plaintiff alternatively brings claims of negligence against these Defendants under Louisiana law. The allegations, however, are substantively similar.

43. The proximate, contributing, and legal causes of Plaintiff's injuries and Mr. Blanchard's death include the negligence of Defendant HARDY. Plaintiff was not at fault.

44. Defendant HARDY was negligent for the following non-exclusive reasons:

- a. Unsafe work practices relating to requiring Plaintiff and other workers to work at dangerous heights on unstable equipment;
- b. Unsafe work practices relating to planning the job in question;
- c. Failure to approve of an adequate JSA for the job by the owner/operator of the caisson;
- d. Failure to adequately erect and stabilize offshore equipment;
- e. Failure to adequately provide torque service related to the hydraulic workover unit;
- f. Failure to perform torque services that then contributed to the equipment collapsing;
- g. Failure to perform services relating to the rigging up of the hydraulic work-over unit in a reasonable way;
- h. Negligently rigging up the hydraulic work-over unit;
- i. Failure to have adequate safety precautions in place in the event of equipment failure and/or collapse;
- j. Failure to utilize appropriate crane equipment to safely perform the tasks at hand;
- k. Failure to adequately inspect equipment prior to requiring Plaintiff work at height while attached the such equipment;

- l. Failure to perform an adequate hazard assessment for the job in question;
- m. Failure to properly supervise the job in question;
- n. Failure to have adequate policies and procedures for the job in question;
- o. Failure to exercise stop work authority;
- p. Failure to honor stop work authority;
- q. Failure to identify safer means to inspect the equipment;
- r. Failure to warn and advise Plaintiff of the risks relating to the job in question;
- s. Failure to configure the equipment in a safe manner to allow Plaintiff to be able to work at heights safely;
- t. Failure to inspect the equipment that failed and fell into the ocean;
- u. Failure to provide adequate safety equipment;
- v. Failure to provide a safe working environment;
- w. Failure to warn Plaintiff of hidden dangers;
- x. Violation of applicable rules and regulations, including but not limited to United States Coast Guard Regulations; and
- y. Other acts deemed negligent.

45. Defendants owed a duty consistent with the foregoing and breached each of the foregoing duties. These breaches were the proximate, contributing, and legal cause of Plaintiff's injuries and Mr. Blanchard's death. As a result of Defendants' negligence Plaintiff suffered severe injuries and the death of Mr. Blanchard. Mrs. Blanchard was the wife of Mr. Blanchard, and W.B. is the minor child of Mr. Blanchard and are entitled to recover for Mr. Blanchard's damages via the survival action established LA. CIV. CODE art. 2315.1. Plaintiff is also entitled to recover for the death of Mr. Blanchard via the wrongful death action established in LA. CIV. CODE art. 2315.2.

F. Negligence against NPC.

46. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges each allegation contained above.

47. Plaintiff's claims against Defendant NPC arise under the General Maritime law.<sup>5</sup>

48. The proximate, contributing, and legal causes of Plaintiff's injuries and Mr. Blanchard's death include the negligence of Defendant NPC. Plaintiff was not at fault.

49. NPC employed or contracted with SANARE to provide company men to supervise the work. The company men had responsibilities for overseeing the work, controlling the work, ensuring the work was done safely, and specifically to eliminate the hazards that resulted in the eventual death of Mr. Blanchard. The company men failed to act reasonably in that regard and because of that caused the incident.

50. Defendant NPC was negligent for the following non-exclusive reasons:

- a. Failure to hire adequate company men;
- b. Failure to train adequate company men;
- c. Failure to ensure the company men complied with industry and regulatory standards;
- d. Unsafe work practices relating to requiring Plaintiff and other workers to work at dangerous heights on unstable equipment;
- e. Unsafe work practices relating to planning the job in question;

---

<sup>5</sup> If it is determined that the Jones Act and General Maritime law does not apply to this case, Plaintiff alternatively brings claims of negligence against these Defendants under Louisiana law. The allegations, however, are substantively similar.

- f. Failure to approve of an adequate JSA for the job by the owner/operator of the caisson;
- g. Failure to adequately erect and stabilize offshore equipment;
- h. Failure to adequately provide torque service related to the hydraulic workover unit;
- i. Failure to perform torque services that then contributed to the equipment collapsing;
- j. Failure to have adequate safety precautions in place in the event of equipment failure and/or collapse;
- k. Failure to utilize appropriate crane equipment to safely perform the tasks at hand;
- l. Failure to adequately inspect equipment prior to requiring Plaintiff work at height while attached the such equipment;
- m. Failure to perform an adequate hazard assessment for the job in question;
- n. Failure to properly supervise the job in question;
- o. Failure to have adequate policies and procedures for the job in question;
- p. Failure to exercise stop work authority;
- q. Failure to honor stop work authority;
- r. Failure to identify safer means to inspect the equipment;
- s. Failure to warn and advise Plaintiff of the risks relating to the job in question;
- t. Failure to configure the equipment in a safe manner to allow Plaintiff to be able to work at heights safely;

- u. Failure to inspect the equipment that failed and fell into the ocean;
- v. Failure to provide adequate safety equipment;
- w. Failure to provide a safe working environment;
- x. Failure to warn Plaintiff of hidden dangers;
- y. Violation of applicable rules and regulations, including but not limited to United States Coast Guard Regulations; and
- z. Other acts deemed negligent.

51. Defendants owed a duty consistent with the foregoing and breached each of the foregoing duties. These breaches were the proximate, contributing, and legal cause of Plaintiff's injuries and Mr. Blanchard's death. As a result of Defendants' negligence Plaintiff suffered severe injuries and the death of Mr. Blanchard. Mrs. Blanchard was the wife of Mr. Blanchard, and W.B. is the minor child of Mr. Blanchard and are entitled to recover for Mr. Blanchard's damages via the survival action established LA. CIV. CODE art. 2315.1. Plaintiff is also entitled to recover for the death of Mr. Blanchard via the wrongful death action established in LA. CIV. CODE art. 2315.2.

G. Vicarious Liability, Agency, and Dual Employer for the Negligence of the Company Men.

52. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges each allegation contained above.

53. Both SANARE and NPC are vicariously liable for the negligent conduct of the conduct (actions/inactions) of the company men. The company men were on the platform as representatives and agents of SANARE. However, the training of the company men fell on both SANARE and NPC. Additionally, even if it is determined that the company men are borrowed servants of SANARE, NPC is still vicariously liable for the conduct of the company men it provided to the worksite.

VI.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

54. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' conduct, Mr. Blanchard suffered severe and permanent injuries which caused his death. Plaintiff, as tutrix for Mr. Blanchard's minor child, W.B., brings this action for Mr. Blanchard's pre-death damages, which include, but are not limited to, physical pain and suffering, mental pain, anguish, and distress, loss of enjoyment of life, impairment, loss of earnings, and medical expenses.

55. Plaintiff, as tutrix for Mr. Blanchard's minor child, W.B., also seeks recovery of W.B.'s damages resulting from Mr. Blanchard's death, including, but not limited to, damages for loss of love, affection, consortium, society, companionship, care, nurture, guidance, monetary support, and for medical and funeral expenses.

56. Plaintiff seeks all damages allowed under law for both wrongful death and survivorship. Plaintiff brings claims to recover for the loss of wages and support, loss of companionship, loss of services, loss of relationship, pre-death pain and suffering, funeral expenses, and all other damages allowed under law for both claims of wrongful death and survivorship.

57. WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays that Defendants be cited to appear and answer this Complaint and that after due proceedings be had, that there be relief and judgment entered herein against Defendants as pleaded above and as follows:

- a. Compensatory damages against Defendants;
- b. Actual damages;
- c. Consequential damages;

- d. Pain and suffering;
- e. Past and future mental anguish;
- f. Impairment;
- g. Past and future economic loss;
- h. Interest on damages (pre and post-judgment) in accordance with the law;
- i. Recoverable court costs; and
- j. Such other and further relief as the Court may deem just and proper.

VII.

RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

58. Plaintiff reserves the right to prove the amount of damages at trial and to amend this Complaint to add additional claims upon further discovery and as investigation continues.

VIII.

JURY TRIAL DEMAND

59. Plaintiff hereby demands a trial by jury.
